Re: Language Change to Open Source License Addendum

Dear Yann and Leon:

I write in response to your request that LizardTech amend certain language found in the source code header files of the DjVu Reference Library. Specifically, this language acts as an addendum to the GNU General Public License, and grants a limited license to patents related to the DjVu technology. This letter should serve as confirmation that LizardTech is amenable to changing the noted language, as provided below.

LizardTech is willing to implement the following changes:

The following language may be removed from the header files:

With respect to the LizardTech Original Code ONLY, and subject to any third party intellectual property claims, LizardTech grants recipient a worldwide, royalty-free, non-exclusive license under patent claims now or hereafter owned or controlled by LizardTech that are infringed by making, using, or selling LizardTech Original Code, but solely to the extent that any such patent(s) is/are reasonably necessary to enable you to make, have made, practice, sell, or otherwise dispose of LizardTech Original Code (or portions thereof) and not to any greater extent that may be necessary to utilize further modifications or combinations.

LizardTech is willing to amend the remaining language in the subject header files. The remaining text, in full, should read as follows:

DjVu (r) Reference Library (v. 3.5)
Copyright (c) 1999-2001 LizardTech, Inc. All Rights Reserved.
The DjVu Reference Library is protected by U.S. Pat. No. 6,058,214 and patents pending.

This software is subject to, and may be distributed under, the GNU General Public License, Version 2. The license should have accompanied the software or you may obtain a copy of the license from the Free Software Foundation at <http://www.fsf.org>.

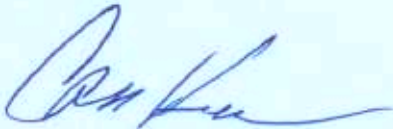

The computer code originally released by LizardTech under this license and unmodified by other parties is deemed "the LIZARDTECH ORIGINAL CODE." Subject to any third party intellectual property claims, LizardTech grants recipient a worldwide, royalty-free, non-exclusive license to make, use, sell, or otherwise dispose of the LIZARDTECH ORIGINAL CODE or of programs derived from the LIZARDTECH ORIGINAL CODE in compliance with the terms of the GNU General Public License. This grant only confers the right to infringe patent claims underlying the LIZARDTECH ORIGINAL CODE to the extent such infringement is reasonably necessary to enable recipient to make, have made, practice, sell, or otherwise dispose of the LIZARDTECH ORIGINAL CODE (or portions thereof) and not to any greater extent that may be necessary to utilize further modifications or combinations.

The LizardTech Original Code is provided "AS IS" WITHOUT WARRANTY OF ANY KIND, EITHER EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO ANY WARRANTY OF NON-INFRINGEMENT, OR ANY IMPLIED WARRANTY OF MERCHANTABILITY OR FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE.

I hope that the proposed language change satisfies your needs. I appreciate your working through this issue with us.

Kind regards,
